

Summer Reading Requirements for Students Entering Second Grade

Number of Pages: 150 to 300

Assessment: Record reading data on the Berean Academy Reading Log (due the first day of school).

Non-Fiction: It is highly recommended that at least two selections be non-fiction. The current reading list does not include non-fiction titles, so parents will need to choose age appropriate non-fiction selections for their children.

Read Alouds: An adult may read aloud up to 75 pages to the child, as long as the selections are at least fourth-grade level.

New Students: Students new to Berean Academy who enroll after July 15 will have their number of pages reduced to 100. New students who enroll close to the first day of school may have an alternative set of guidelines established by the administration or faculty.

Selections: The second page of this packet contains a list of recommended books for this age group; however parents and students are not limited to this list. To locate additional titles, visit <http://www.renlearn.com/store/> and click the "Quiz Search" link. Enter a title or author in the search box to find the level of the book. The level represents a rough correlation to school grade equivalence. Students entering second grade should read books at the 2.0 level or (preferably) higher.
